IOWA.

Bowling is one of the most popular sports indulged in by the deaf boys of Council Bluffs and Omaha, and a team of good pin-hitters has been maintained through the past winter, composed of F. J. Wittwer and H. S. Lee, of Council Bluffs, and Scott Cusaden, Harry Kellner, Arthur Nelson and William Bauersacks, of Omaha. A series of games with Council Bluffs teams, on the Council Bluffs alleys, was pulled off. At the start the deaf boys fared not any too well, being defeated several times in succession by very close margins.

When they met the Groneweg and Schoentgen team, one of the best in Council Bluffs, they played in excellent form and defeated their opponents by a margin of 57 pins. The Groneweg and Schoentgen boys, believing they could do better and show "The Wonders," (as the deaf boys' team was named by the manager of the alleys) a thing or two, immediately challenged our boys to another game. The challenge was accepted. When the smoke of the second battle had cleared away and points were footed up, the G. and S. boys were nowhere to be found. They had been snowed under by a margin of 338—and refused to consider a third contest.

Simon Himmelschein, of Los Angeles, spent a couple of days in Council Bluffs last week as the guest of F. J. Wittwer. He was on his way east and stopped off on the banks of the Big Muddy to visit with friends in the Bluffs and in Omaha.

Mrs. P. L. Axling and Mrs. Ada Heinz spent Wednesday, the 16th, at the home of Mrs. J. M. Tover in Omaha, where there was a gathering of two or three more ladies for a chat over the teacups.

Corporal Romney O. Barrett was recently promoted and is now a Sergeant, 1st Class, at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia.

Benton Thornberg, of Underwood, suffered a severe accident the last week in March, having the misfortune to get his right arm caught in the belt of a machine, at which he was working. The arm was twisted around until the two main bones in it were broken. The injured member was set by surgeons in Council Bluffs, and at last reports Benton was doing well.

Mr. E. L. Michaelson interpreted for the deaf at the First Presbyterian Church on several Sundays in February and March. The deaf people sat in the Sunday School room where they could see the congregation and minister, and the interpreter was not seen by the audience. Rev. Frederick Evans, the pastor, was preaching his last sermon, prior to leaving for the Harlem Church, New York City. On the last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Michaelson had their baby baptized and Miss Dorothy Long acceptably acted as interpreter.

Miss Lou Little, after nearly two years spent in the East, arrived in Council Bluffs on April 17th. She will make her home here with a her brother, N. M. Little. She is quite well-known to some of the deaf here, as she had often visited her brother.

ALPHABET CLUB.

Y. M. C. A. (40) ALPHABET (34)
Ye club scribe seems to have been stricken with that time-old malady—"as in the spring, a young man's fancy," etc., etc., but garnered sufficient strength to report on the final basket-ball game of the season:

"You needn't think we've been fast asleep. Or beckoning to fish in the briny deep. We journeyed down to Applin Way, To old Port Chester, near the land of Connecticut.

And the Y. M. C. A. hit us on the bean.

Alphabet	Pos	Y. M. C. A.
Eberhardt	L. F.	Krigan
Willits	H. P.	Bake
Moster	C.	Gordon
Rubin	R. G.	Sullivan
Kerner	L. G.	Machine

Summaries: Goals from Floor—Y. M. C. A., 9; Krigan, 7; Sullivan, 2. Alphabet, 8; Rubin, 3; Willits, 2; Kerner, 2; Eberhardt, 1. Goals from Foul—Krigan, 10 out of 11; Moster, 2 out of 5. Referee—Johnson. Scorers—Morgan and Taylor. Timekeepers—Morgan and Taylor. Half—Y. M. C. A., 10; Alphabet 16.

And we therefore close the basket-ball season with the unusual percentage of seven games lost, five won and one tie, not counting the countless games not recorded in the scoring book. Not bad, we should say.

GALLAUDET HOME.

This is Sunday, the twenty seventh of April, and a fine Spring day it is. It is the birthday of the late General Ulysses Simpson Grant, whose ashes lie encased in a sarcophagus, in a marble crypt (like that of Napoleon) and whose monument, in upper Riverside Park, is the finest of its kind in the country.

Mr. C. Q. Mann, who just left here for Newburgh, came to the Home yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by his lifelong friend, Mr. Gilbert Hicks, who is a retired nurseryman and is in his eighty-first year. I greeted this venerable gentleman early this morning, in the guest's room, and asked him how he was feeling. "Fine," replied he. I then asked him if he was yet eighty. "Eighty-one," replied he, and with a quiet smile around his lips, "I will be glad to see you when I am one hundred."

At dinner, the matron distributed some candies among the inmates, that Mr. Hicks had brought. He firmly believes that old and infirm people like candies. Mr. Hicks' nursery formerly covered 166 acres of ground. Now sixty-six acres are leased. It is somewhere over in Long Island. Mr. Hicks has nothing whatever to do with the nursery now. He is a gentleman of leisure, and is enjoying the Autumn of his days. His brother and nephew now run the nursery. This afternoon, for nearly an hour, Mr. Hicks lectured in the chapel on his experience as a nurseryman, and the myriads of new plants, fruits and vegetables, that are constantly being developed by fruit growers. Because Mr. Hicks has a dislocated shoulder, he could not go on with his interesting and instructive lecture longer than he did, as his ailment bothered him. He dislocated his shoulder some years ago by falling through a rotten floor. He is still spry and walks erect. He is one of Old Danwood's oldest graduates. Within the past seven years he has been up here on three or four occasions. Mr. I. N. Soper took the grand old gentleman down to the farm-house to see the superintendent of the farm, Mr. Samuel Gardner, and Mr. Hicks was warmly greeted and shown around.

Just as soon as dinner was over this afternoon, Mrs. Rascol, who has been living here for the past three years, confronted this correspondent with tears in her eyes, and stated that her son, Frank E. Rascol, a young man over twenty years of age, had gone down to New Orleans to reside with his sister-in-law, and that he would never come back again. A few words of comfort helped to abate her anguish.

Mr. George Friedman, one of Mrs. Sarah Jane Bayne's grandsons, visited his grandmother on the eighth and ninth of April, and she was immensely pleased to see him. Late in July last, George went to England, and from there to France, where he fought in the war for a while, or until it was over. He fought at Chateau Thierry, and came out without a wound, but while asleep one night in a trench or "dugout" he was gassed. He soon recovered from his deadly effects, and is feeling all right now. But as he believes there is still some gas within his person, he is determined to let the printer's trade go to the dogs, and to become a tiller of the soil, so as to be in the open air most of the time. This change of occupation will doubtless drive all the mustard gas out of him.

George not being a communicative fellow, had little or nothing to say of his experiences as a soldier. Nevertheless, he answered all questions with pleasure. He is the brother of Willie Friedman, who left Danwood in April, 1907, to support his mother, who had become a widow. He died in November of the same year. His mother, some years later, became Mrs. Michael Egan.

George is a good sign and finger talker. This scribe took him down to the farmhouse, and Mr. Gardner showed him everything that was worth showing or seeing. What interested George most was the breeder-house Mr. Gardner made during his spare time, in the winter months. This breeder-house is a sort of a shanty, seven feet high in front, five feet high at the back, twelve feet long and over ten feet wide, with two large windows in front with the door between. There is a third window on the side of the house. Mr. Gardner had several hundred chickens hatched at an incubatory and is raising them in this little house. In the middle of this structure is a stove, which is sufficiently heated to keep the chickens warm when the weather is too cold for them. This breeder-house is made of smooth boards and is of excellent construction. Its workmanship may indeed do credit to any good carpenter. It is admirably ventilated. The windows which are slightly bent inwardly, are open a few inches at the top. The chickens are fed four or five times a day. Samuel Gardner is quite proud of his little house and chickens, and hopes to have a fine lot of hens by the time the leaves on the trees and bushes fade and fall.

Nearly all the folks, the domestics and all, have made several pilgrimages to the farmhouse lately to see the wonderful breeder-house, and to watch and gaze with wonder and admiration upon the little inhabitants as they run round and round the stove and scramble wildly for the crumbs thrown to them. George Friedman said he never saw anything more interesting than the breeder-house and its three hundred and seventy-five little residents. He came here with a small camera with the vain hope of taking some snap shots, but all the time he was here the sky was cloudy, and so he was compelled to go home without having taken any pictures. Some years ago he came up here to see his grandmother with a banjo, with the idea of practicing on it out of doors in the evening, but it being summer and unusually warm, the mosquitoes drove him within doors every time he ventured out with his musical instrument.

Mr. Gardner is going to enclose some of the fields with barbed wire fence. I was recently reading quite an interesting volume entitled, "The Cabin," a story of some person's experience at camping out somewhere in California, and what the author had to say of their experience in putting up a barbed wire fence, will doubtless be of no little interest to the many readers of this paper. It runs as follows: "I hate barbed wire. From the time you string it out, when you stretch it, nail it, mend it, it is full of cussedness. No matter how gingerly you handle it, it will switch and jerk through your hands, it will snatch at you like a scorpion. And when it is up, it lies in wait like a trap. Probably more good horses have been ruined and blemished by barbed wire than by any other single agency. But it turns cattle and is quickly strung." All this may be quite true, but for the party to have undertaken to cut down trees on the spots, would have required weeks and months of hard labor. Timber is now very dear.

I forgot to state that Mr. Gardner built his breeder-house within the barn, so as to avoid the inclemencies of the weather, and when it was finished his team of horses hauled it out to where it now stands, on the grass some thirty feet or so away from his kitchen door. The breeder-house was built on a pair of runners, so it may be easily moved to any desired spot near the farmhouse. It is now where the sun may shine on it nearly all day long.

When winter was nearly over, Miss Barbara Johnston, the assistant matron, to the surprise of all, fell a victim to what is popularly termed Spanish influenza, but what is really another name for La Grippe, a disease that has existed in America and many other climes from time immemorial. All the time she was sick she had a good trained nurse, and so pulled through all right. As she is an amiable lady and treats all with kindness, all are glad she is well and on her feet again. All are wondering why some one else besides Miss Johnson did not get the same sickness. The La Grippe treats old and young alike or with equal severity.

The little dog, Laddie, is a most docile and lovable creature. The matron purchased him from Mr. Ireland last June, and so he belongs to her. He will be a year old this May 12th. He has been living here since last June. He is a great plaything. He greets you by standing upon his hind feet and pressing his front feet against your person or resting them on your arm. He loves to lay down on his back and to have you pinch or tickle his chest. For a time Laddie was all alone, and so naturally seemed quite lonesome. As time passed on, however, and he grew bigger and bigger, he heard the distant barking of neighboring dogs, went in search of them and found them, and now makes such friends frequent visits. The fact that he does so is demonstrated by the many burrs sticking in his bushy tail and on other portions of his body. His friends come to see him, too. Every morning two other dogs may be seen playing with Laddie around the house. As they are of the same species as himself and resemble him in color and every way, they are doubtless his own brothers and sisters. It is something quite interesting and amusing to watch these three beings as they run hither and thither about the grounds with their bushy tails streaming behind them, like the tail of a comet, flying faster and faster and leaping over each other.

Animals as well as chickens are fond of play. As the dog is considered man's dearest friend, we should treat him with the utmost kindness.

Miss Sarah Porter, who is the youngest lady living here, is mourning the loss of her brother, Francis William Porter, a bachelor, and a watchman by occupation, who died on the fifteenth of February last. Her niece made her immensely happy some time ago, by sending her an olive-black dress.

The blizzard of March 20th was felt quite severely up here. All of the folks felt cold for a time. The eighty-mile gale that prevailed at the time was rather hard on the trees of the farmstead. Many were sent flying in all directions, and a few trees were felled. The lane leading down to the farmhouse was strewn with branches. The day before the blizzard Editor Hodgson, Mr. McManis and Rev. John Chamberlain, visited the Home. While they were here the skies were threatening. How lucky they were not to have come a day later. They met this correspondent on their way down to the farmhouse and greeted me. The editor of this newspaper wanted to know why I did not write him a letter and remarked that I was getting slim. As he spoke, Laddie greeted me, as he always does, by standing up on his hind feet and resting his fore feet on my arm. I saluted him as I always do with a "Hello."

One day, at noon, last week, Mr. Cooper, of Watertown, drove up to the door unexpectedly just for a short call, in his handsome touring car. He enjoyed a chat with Mr. Soper, Mrs. Nelson and others, and agreed to give Mr. Soper and Mrs. Nelson a ride in his large automobile. They were jubilant over the thought of a few miles spin, but when dinner was over Mr. Cooper and his self-inspired, self-directing and self-moving vehicle, moving at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour, were near New Rochelle, and his so Mr. Soper and Mrs. Nelson missed a good ride. The presence of a heavy shower of rain, while all were at dinner, indicated that Mr. Cooper had wished "to make haste for his destination."

I was wondering how Mr. C. Q. Mann had come to meet Mr. Hicks. Mr. Mann said that he had boarded Mr. Hicks' train at Harmon. Not one out of every ten of my intelligent readers probably know where or what Harmon is. It is a station between Croton and Ossining, and the place where all passenger trains going to the Grand Central Station discard their steam locomotives and are then moved by electric power. There are many machine and work-shops at Harmon. It was originally a sandy hill. The New York Central Railway made this hill low for the purpose they are now using the situation.

The waitress, Miss Lauretta Smith, who has been here for the past nine months, was made happy a short time ago by the arrival of her friend, Mr. Smith, from overseas. He is a gallant soldier, and is now back at his old post as a motor man on the trolley road running between Poughkeepsie and Wappingers Falls. Upon his first visit to this Home, Miss Smith, knowing he had fought for us as well as for herself, wisely introduced Mr. Smith to all the folks hereabouts.

The inmates and domestics enjoyed their Easteride fairly well. Each inmate had three or four eggs at breakfast Easter morning, and at dinner two or more dishes of ice-cream were served. Enough ice-cream for all, and more than enough, was sent here by one of the lady managers. Some candies were also served. At present eggs are very dear in the towns and cities, but in the rural districts they are comparatively and reasonably cheap.

It has rained up here nearly every day this month. A hearing friend of mine, who recently made a visit to Pinehurst, down in North Carolina, sent a pictorial card saying that down there it was everywhere and that the needless of the pine trees were a foot long. Later upon his arrival in the metropolis, this same friend wrote and said that Spring was his favorite season, and asks if I like it better than all the other seasons. I reply I don't, because the skies are full of tears or it rains once too often.

Mr. Gardner has a colored hired man, named Ernest Williams, who is said to be a Virginian. The colored man is as good a tiller of the soil as he is a soldier. Mr. Gardner will have no additional hands. He says one will do. Only about ninety acres of this farm is cultivated. The remaining seventy or more acres consists of woods and pasture land.

STANLEY.

AKRON, O.

C. Vinson, of the Goodyear Colony, has gone home to Arkansas, where he will help in celebrating his mother's birthday anniversary. He has not been home there for about three years.

George Parrish returned to this city last Friday from Jacksonville, Fla., where he spent the winter in a hotel.

Stephon Price, who has spent the winter in West Palm Beach, Fla., visited his daughter, Mrs. Charles Schiffhauer and family, in Sawyerwood for several days about three weeks ago, en route to his home in Uniontown, Pa. Mr. Price took his grandson, Elmer Schiffhauer, home to spend the summer.

A boy babe was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schiffhauer, of Sawyerwood, Monday, March 24th.

Louis Snyder has quit the employ of Collins & Son, as auto trimmer, to accept a similar position with J. W. Kirkland & Co., 869 South Main Street, at better wages. Mr. Snyder is an expert trimmer.

Mrs. Lewis Kline, of Youngstown, died in Peoples Hospital, this city, Monday afternoon, April 14th, following an operation from which she never regained consciousness. She had been in ill health through the winter. She was a pupil of the Ohio Institution years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Kline moved to Youngstown about six years ago, where Mr. Kline holds a position in an industrial establishment. Many deaf friends showed their sympathy and love for the late Mrs. Kline by attending the funeral, which was held at Billow's Chapel, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Nellie Gillespie, of the Goodyear, interpreted for the deaf crowd, while a minister offered prayer and a short sermon. She was buried in Oakwood Cemetery, Cuyahoga Falls.

About one hundred and fifty deaf-mutes attended a delightful social Saturday evening, April 19th, at G. A. R. Hall.

The latest addition to the Goodyear Colony is Thomas F. Goldsmith, who came from Columbus. About a dozen of deaf-mutes from Texas were also added there recently. There are about 450 deaf-mutes employed in this factory at present.

Harley Dille has returned to Akron after a short stay in Athens.

Albert Saxion, who recently came from Lorain, is now employed by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company as a tire finisher.

AKRONITE.

SAN FRANCISCO

The hearing son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Selig, Henry, has taken a position on the night shift at the Potrero plant of the Union Iron Works. He is quite proud of his triangle metallic badge. "Four seventy-five, with five per cent for night work, is," says Henry, "not so bad, after all!"

Martin Johnson came down to our Battery St. meeting place on Friday, April 18, in his new Ford. Quite a crowd collected and asked all sorts of questions. Marty will find himself very popular with the girls when we have a picnic or an outing on Sunday—we'll say he will.

Miss Joyce Montgomery and Mr. Henry Bonetti were married here recently. Both are graduates of the Berkeley School.

The Ilemizer, in the California News, reports that Merle Thurman is now Ozona, Texas, working on a ranch, and that Alex Smith is now employed by the Sun Publishing Co., Colusa, Cal.

The California News this month has a column of "Wouldn't it seem queer?" Along near the bottom there is a line that caught our attention. It is—"The Ilemizer without Mr. d' Estrella."

We'd go a step farther and say that without Mr. d' Estrella there wouldn't be any Ilemizer at all. This is the twentieth century, and miracles don't happen any more!

We were pleased to see an article regarding the fine points of Mr. Carol Land in this month's issue of the News, but we could have added a great deal to it without half trying.

Mr. Hugo Canaris and Mr. Welling are the latest to get work at the Ford Motor Co. There are about twenty-five employed there at present. Mr. D. Kaiser did work there for a few weeks, but left for a better place.

Mr. Laurand Boyer is now studying Monotype operating with the Monotype Co. of San Francisco.

The C. A. D. Medal Committee has arranged a Smoker and Whist Party for men only, at the home of Mr. J. W. Howson, 2915 Regent St., Berkeley, on April 26th. The object is to raise money for the Association's Medal Fund.

The Easter Party was undeniably a decided success. Quite a crowd was present. The $30 diamond ring that was raffled off, was won by Mr. Walter Hannan on ticket number 28. All he needs is a girl, a house, a few thousand dollars, and he can get married. The "early egg hunt" proved to be a fizzle, because all who were engaged in this pleasurable pastime ate the candies as fast as they could find them, so that when the game ended there were no eggs to count.

Mr. Ed. Brodriek and Mr. N. E. Pike, with the help of Mr. Lewis Peterson, arranged the games, and it is needless to state that we all wished to wind the clock back about four hours. It was nearly midnight when the party broke up, and all were satisfied with the way the committee handled the affair.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Iowa Association for the Advancement of the Deaf will hold its Regular and Fourteenth Triennial Convention at Fort Dodge, Iowa, August 20, 22, 23, 1919.

The regular meetings will be held the first three days and adjourn the third day—the fourth day being dedicated to festivities.

Speakers of prominence, representing every phase of deaf welfare, will be on the program.

Arrangements for entertainment will be given special attention, some of the features being the banquet, the grand ball, and the picnic with prizes for various contests.

Headquarters will be at the Walkonsa Hotel. For reservations and information write Fred E. Ward, Chairman of Local Committee, No. 12 South 9th St., Fort Dodge, Iowa.

A good time is assured for all present.

MATT MCCOOK, President,
Riceville, Iowa.

HUGH S. COURTER, Secretary,
Y. M. C. A., Des Moines, Iowa.

PITTSBURGH.

Rev. F. C. Smielau was in the city, April 20th, and preached at Trinity in the evening to a large and interested assembly. Besides his usual interesting sermon, he gave some interesting information concerning the fight to block the passage of the bill in the Legislature preventing the deaf to run motor vehicles. Rev. Smielau is himself, perhaps the most valiant champion of the Deaf and their rights in the state, taken as a whole.

Ernest R. Frese, who is holding down a good job at the Goodyears, Akron, got a two-day vacation at Easter time, and concluded he could n't better employ the time than by coming home, and visiting old friends. He was a caller at the school at Edgewood, and reported having a satisfactory job, but was still working for promotion.

The Firestone Tire Co., of Akron, seems to desire to share Goodyear popularity in the employment of the deaf, and is sending out literature explaining the advantages the company have to offer able-bodied deaf persons to work in their factory. Mr. Ralph Dann, from our section, has been with the Firestone Company for nine years, and is entirely satisfied with treatment. No doubt a number of Pittsburgh men will be drawn thither during the summer.

Mrs. Alson Jones, of Elk County, is visiting her mother on the North Side, and has been with her since Easter. It will be remembered that her son died of the influenza last October. He was fifteen years of age, and before his illness weighed two hundred and fifty pounds. Mr. and Mrs. Jones were also afflicted with the flu.

Robert Rolinds and William Lemon, of Mt. Pleasant, were Easter visitors in the city. The latter reported crop prospects good in his section, but that was before the arctic breeze, that is on right now, came down from the north and breathed its breath of chills on every thing that has put out tender verdure.

Mrs. Michael Gormley, of Oil City, was also here during Easter, visiting friends and having a good time generally.

An affair of considerable local interest was the marriage of Miss Florence Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hartman, of the South Side, April 23d. Mrs. Teegarden, a close neighbor of the Hartmans in her school days was present and reports a brilliant church affair, and the ceremony, though lengthy, was carried out in a most impressive manner. The bride was lovely as all brides are supposed to be. Only the immediate families of the contracting parties and a few intimate friends were present. A beautiful wedding breakfast followed the ceremony and festivities renewed in the evening. The bride is a niece of Mr. Charles Ott, also of the South Side.

Mr. Leonard Tarr, of Oil City, writes that he will be among us in the near future. He is at present studying at the Oil City High School in the industrial department, and expects to have a diploma soon.

G. M. T.

Mr. White, Managing Officer

Recently Mr. C. P. Gillett, who was granted a year's leave of absence last June, sent in his resignation as managing officer of the Illinois School for the Deaf to the Department of Public Welfare. It was accepted and Mr. H. T. White, who since last fall has been Acting Managing Officer, was appointed Managing Officer.

Mr. Gillett, who has a farm in Pike County in this State and landed interests in Florida, and who is, in conjunction with Frank Mather, conducting farming interests near this city, expects to devote his attention to his private business affairs. —Illinois Advance.

THE Cadets of Fanwood, or as many of them as constitute a Provisional Company, won highest honors at a military competition, in the Armory of the Twelfth Regiment, on Friday of last week, and were awarded a massive silver cup, which will take its proper position among the exhibits of trophies won at similar competitions in former years.

This year the deaf boys had to meet and vanquish three organizations of hearing cadets. But the fine Fanwood training which they had received, backed by Fanwood spirit, won for them the victory and the award.

Generation after generation of Fanwood Cadets, has drilled and marched in competition as a Battalion, and separately in each of the three companies that formed the Battalion, and invariably covered themselves with glory. They don't know how it feels to be beaten, and if they continue to do their best they never will.

TAKING a broad view of conditions brought about by the Great War, one must admit that the deaf have benefited to a very large extent. Manufacturing and other establishments that were closed to them in the days of universal peace—the pre-war days—now welcome them as workers and make no discrimination in wages because of deafness.

Quite a change has been wrought in the industrial prospects of deaf-mutes. The fact that they have made good at big industrial centres, has spread throughout the whole country, and the result is that the "verboten" tag is no longer pinned to their applications for employment.

The move to accept the deaf began before the war, in manufacturing centers like Akron, Detroit, etc. The war caused a shortage in man power, and the deaf, being exempt from military service, were available as workers and were eagerly sought. They protested in vain against the restrictions that barred them from the Army and the Navy. They were willing to fight—in fact, hundreds of them were crazy to get into the trenches and pump bullets or throw grenades at the Hun.

So the deaf contented themselves by making their money fight through the purchase of Liberty Bonds. They bought joyfully, extravagantly, recklessly, and today there is scarcely a deaf-mute home in the country that can not proudly exhibit Liberty Bonds.

Their last opportunity to lend to the Government has now arrived. The Victory Loan drive is under full headway. Every deaf man should buy certificates. They will serve to identify people in the years that are to come, and be a guarantee of their loyalty to the State and patriotism towards the Nation.

"JIMMIE" MRAGHER is so saturated with the divine afflatus, that wherever he goes he "busts out into rhyme." His snappy brevities in the Gary, Ind., Evening Post, must have tickled the readers of that enterprising newspaper, but a poem of three stanzas—eight lines to a stanza and music in every line—must have accelerated subscriptions to the Victory Loan, to which object it was attuned.

In Memoriam

THE REV. HARRY J. VAN ALLEN
Not understood! We move along asunder,
Our paths grow wider as the seasons creep
Along the years. We marvel and wonder
Why life is life; and then we fall asleep—
Not understood.
Not understood! We gather false impressions
And hug them closer as the years go by;
'Till virtues often seem to us transgressions,
And thus men rise and fall and live and die—
Not understood.
Not understood! How many breasts are aching
For lack of sympathy. Ah! day by day
How many cheerless lonely hearts are breaking!
How many noble spirits pass away—
Not understood.

Oh God! That men should see a little clearer,
Or judge less harshly where they cannot see!
Oh God! That men should draw a little nearer
To one another! They'd be nearer
Thee
And understood.

The death of Rev. Harry Van Allen takes from us one of our tried and true friends. The story of his life, as penned in that editorial of the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, reveals a man singularly active and versatile. As a minister, in his literary and other pursuit of a private nature, he displayed the qualities that makes for success, which were uniformly his. Also he possessed in marked degree the finer human qualities that win the love and esteem of all. His death at an age at which many more years of useful activity might have been expected for him, is on that account particularly deplorable. Save to those of his friends and acquaintances, the news came as a shock. Untimely though it was ended, his life was one of accomplishment, and its record will ever remain a creditable page in the annals of Gallaudet College, from which he graduated with the highest honors.

There are some occasions in the busy life of the present, we gladly erase from our calendar and memory; there are other occasions so full of memories of the past and prophecies of the future, we love to bid them linger.

We may well ask what it is in life that is enduring? What it is we are at this time so deeply sorrowing for the loss of Rev. Harry Van Allen. We cannot tell what it is. Sometimes we stand entranced at the grandeur and beauty the eye sees, but we fail to comprehend.

The glow of sunset covering the landscape with prismatic colors is beyond description and we know not what forces make it so. The sun has gone from our sight to gladden other lands, but, oh! how it tossed its beauty back covering the hills with gold, is beyond our ken.

The gems long hidden in the heart of earth, when chiseled by a master hand, gleam in varied lines and we wonder what it is that causes them to flash in beauty—what forces have been blending them?

The butterfly's wing with its royal dyes tell not what chemistry of nature traced its colors in lines so marked. The scientist can name them all, but none can tell the secret mysteriously withheld from us.

The flowers are woven out of mystery. We cannot tell why one is crimson and one yellow. They lift their head from murky earth and we wonder at the varied blossoms.

Something is beyond our sight we miss at this time. It is not the form for that very recently returned to dust, and we tread reverently above his ashes.

It is this life he lived, the difficulties he overcame, the noblest work he did, it truths he exemplified.

Be it life or sleep what matter, if
We reach a stormless shore
Where the ships are safely sheltered—
Where the billows beat no more?
When the life has left the leaf
When the harvest is in sheaf,
The seal of God's own silence, or
His Glory for our grief!

In these days we are often obliged to think in terms of millions and billions. To some, our fund of $3200 may seem small. Certainly it is not very large, when we consider the number of N. A. D. members, about 1250, according to the Hartford Convention report, and the fact that it has taken over seven years to collect it.

Still, when we take it by itself, it represents what any one of us would consider a snug sum. It forms a solid foundation for future growth, if all the members will only get up an "all pull together" spirit such as that exemplified in the different campaigns for selling Liberty bonds and raising the various funds connected with war activities.

It was pleasing to learn by the last number of the Nad, that there were indications of more active work on the part of the State organizers. Perhaps they are already doing wonders and preparing to surprise us all. Surely the officers and members, from President Cloud down, would like nothing better.

During the coming summer there will probably be a number of conventions and school re-unions in various States. Each gathering will offer a promising field for the proper State organization who should be strongly backed by other prominent leaders in attendance. Few of the scattered mute population are well informed in regard to the National Association and its objects. A certain amount of missionary work is in order, even if repetition is necessary.

A Branch should be formed in every good-sized city or other centre of deaf population. Why cannot each member of the association be induced to pledge the payment of a sum each month—a dime, a quarter, or more? Should such idea be carried out, it might be so gratifying in its results that all would be in favor of its continuance.

Let the good work or some better plan begin, and be continued until the fund shall have reached the amount necessary to carry out the objects of the association.

CHURCH MISSION TO DEAF-MUTES.

NEW YORK DISTRICT NOTICES.

FREDERICK, MD.

Easter Sunday proved to be the happiest and most memorable day of the year to all the pupils. After chapel services Company A, lead by the newly organized drum corps, paraded out to review before a large crowd of over one hundred visitors of prominence.

On that day our boys were attired in military paraphernalia for the first time. The uniforms are of cadet gray with overseas caps, which gives them the appearance of the famous "Blue Devils" of France. The drill on that day was by far the best ever performed since Military Training was adopted here as a part of the curriculum.

A reporter commenting upon his visit writes: "A Militarist atmosphere now prevails in practically every American school and college as well as the Maryland State School for Deaf, where Military training is now a part of the school curriculum and is now flourishing like a rose in the Spring rain and sun. They went through all the commands with a snap and without a mistake. For it is not their policy to make any, for they are too well trained for that."

Shortly before the review came to a close the boys were inspected by Colonel Bjorlee, Mr. Richard Ross and Captain Charles Townsend, formerly of the Old Maryland Fifth Regiment.

The visitors were also afforded an opportunity to witness the rhythm work.

Good Friday was solemnly observed by all the pupils. The Morning Chapel Services were conducted by the Principal, who using the theme "King of the Jews" as text. He spoke upon the chief events pertaining to Good Friday and the resurrection of Christ.

Good Friday has come to be a holiday in Maryland. All stores were closed on that day. The pupils were free to do as they pleased throughout the whole day. Many of them took long walks out in the country.

An impromptu meeting was held in the Assembly Hall, by the Ely Literary Association members, on Saturday night, the event being a "Story Night." President Paupel called upon the advanced members to relate stories, which was responded to by many of the pupils, who told some exciting narratives of adventure and the like. A very pleasant and instructive time was had by all.

Wednesday last found the warrior representatives of the Brunswick High School encamped on our field to battle with our Senior Nine of the County High School League.

With a complete change in the batting order and Howdy Elliott doing the swirling, our boys played in a complete reversal of form and retained the lead from the very first stanza of the game.

Elliott, our slab artist, showed up to form and pitched a good game. He yielded but six hits, and back to the bench via the strike-out route at critical moments.

This victory lifted us out of the cellar of the league and put us in third place.

Miss Jeanette C. Reamer was recently the guest of the Institution. She came under the direction of Professor Pinter, of the Department of Psychology, of the Ohio State University, who has for a long time been interested in mental and educational tests for deaf children, and is at present procuring material from which to compile a comprehensive report on the deaf children in the various Institutions. The ingeniously contrived tests were given to all children above the second grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor O. Skyberg were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bjorlee at the Institution last week. They made a thorough inspection of the Industrial Buildings, and were immensely pleased with the piano exercises. The pupils now know over twenty-five songs.

Monday of last week we had an interested visitor here in the person of Miss Grace Ely, a teacher at the Kendall School, a daughter of our former principal, Dr. Charles W. Ely. Miss Ely was born at his school and retains a keen interest in all that transpires in the Institution, which to her is like "The Old Home."

Upon the kind invitation of Miss Weinberg, the Jewish pupils of this school were invited to a supper at her home last Sunday. They then attended services at the Jewish Temple.

We, especially the girls, are all happy to have Miss Barbara MacDonald back again with us, after a month's absence. She fell ill some time ago, and the condition of her health required a rest, so she went to her home in Connecticut, where she recuperated and returned to take up her teacher's duties again, with normal vigor.

Very recently we had a visit from Miss Ijams, who has the distinction of being one of the first pupils to graduate from this school, and who later taught here for a number of years.

There are now a good many of the pupils striving to become Knights of the Modern Health Crusaders, which was recently started here.

At the Easter Monday Party the little kids were entertained by Vincent Demarco, who attired as Charlie Chaplin made them laugh hard and long with his loutish actions.

On Saturday night before a capacious crowd in the Assembly Hall, the Reading Room Girls entertained the members of the Ely Literary Association with a three-act comedy, entitled "A Wife Wanted." The play was in all respects a farcical success, and had the audience roaring with laughter from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

Margaret Peebles stood out prominently in her assumed role as a bachelor. Her impersonation of the masculine sex was admirably done.

Mention of praise should at best be bestowed upon all the participants, for they all did their utmost to render the play a success and to make the meeting a pleasant one, which most certainly it was.

There was a full house present, comprising the entire faculty and student body, besides a host of outside visitors.

Our Senior base-ball team journeyed to Middletown Wednesday, to respond to the scheduled game with the High School of that county. The game was played on a ruggedly ploughed field, which greatly handicapped the players and proved to be the most distressing game played so far. The central part of that diamond was so elevated as to force our little outfielders to stand on their tiptoes to get a view of what was going on at the home plate.

Our opponents attacked our pitcher with such avidity as to garner sixteen hits, out of which materialized fourteen runs, and they were aided by the eight errors committed by our players, while the best our boys could do was to produce seven runs through eight hits.

Our captain and star player, Vincent Demarco and Charles Smiek, have been proving themselves to be our main assets this season. The former smashed out a ferocious drive into deep center for a three-bagger in our game with Middletown H. S.

The Messrs. Harry Baynes and Louis Aronowitz were week-end visitors at the Institution. The former is one of our representatives at Gallaudet College. The latter is also a student at the same college and hails from Nebraska.

Indications are that all of our former pupils now at Gallaudet College are getting along fine. In the Senior department, we have Wroth Heitler, who will have finished his course this summer. Besides one Junior, Bessie Moss, we have four in the Preparatory Class, namely, Ruth Leitch, Helen Moss, Harry Baynes and Noah Downes.

Rev. O. J. Whildin, of Baltimore, was on guest during the week end. He officiated at the Sunday afternoon service in the Chapel, using "Duty" as his text.

Recently several of our lady teachers hid themselves on a motoring trip to the Battlefield of Gettysburg. From their smiles, we gather that it was a most enjoyable event.

Through the Printer's Ink we learn of the death of Mr. Lynn C. Wright, a cousin of our principal. He has for many years been the managing editor and brain of the Printer's Ink. He was formerly on the editorial staff of the Outing.

On Sunday we had a large influx of visitors here to witness the drill. Mr. H. B. Kreh of this city reviewed the drill. Among the visitors were Mrs. George Leitner and Mrs. Brushwood, both residents of Baltimore and former pupils of this school.

All of the pupils here are looking forward to a visit from their idol and one-time schoolmate, Noah

Downes. Noah was the all around star of this school and Frederick City while a student, and he is now making a name for himself in the various branches of sports at Gallaudet.

FANWOOD.

N. Y. I. D.—VICTORS!

Under the auspices of the Manhattan Camp, No. 1, United Spanish War Veterans, a Competitive Drill was held between eight Military Organizations, at the Twelfth Regt' Armory, last Friday evening, May 2d.

The Armory was overpacked, and hundreds had to stand.

The Provisional Company was ably commanded by Cadet Adjutant James A. McVernon.

There were four judges, and they started off the first company at a quarter past eight. Each organization had an army of rooters, and were stationed in different parts of the armory. Two companies had competed before "our boys" got on their feet to compete. We were given wild applause by a majority of the people every time a movement was done. Everything seemed to be with us, until the Xaviers were called last to compete. This organization looked to be a winner at the beginning, but not after all.

Soon the Xaviers were called before the judges, and the rooters of that organization cheered so wildly that the Armory would have almost fallen in—being old. The rest of the organizations were wondering and did not understand what it all meant. Soon they found out that they were tied with the De la Salle for the second prize.

No one wondered who would capture first honors, because we were too good to compete with them—thus we were given first honors. From everywhere came loud applause, when one of the judges announced that the N. Y. I. D. got the first prize. Xaviers captured the second, De la Salle third, and De Witt Clinton fourth prize. All of the organizations participated in a review. The cup is of odd shape, and is now in the office of Principal Gardner. This is the first prize the N. Y. I. D. has won under the Principalship of Principal I. B. Gardner, also the first in the new era of the second centennial.

The loving cup was shown to the pupils by Principal Gardner in chapel on Sunday morning. He spoke on the organization of this military school by the late Enoch Henry Currier, and the influence of the prizes we have won for the future generations. Prof. Clayton S. Smith spoke on the abilities of disabled soldiers in the afternoon.

The cadets all missed the Atlantic Fleet after they weighed anchor and sailed from the Hudson River, which now looks drear and desolate, where it was formerly alive with launches, boats and signals of all kinds. The fleet or part of it sailed to the Azores Islands, and from there will go to Lisbon, Portugal. Some of the cadets became so well acquainted with the sailors that correspondence is kept up.

The opening of the Polo Grounds for this season has not been without its effect upon the Cadets. Numberless fans are in existence here, and have a regular representative to go to the grounds at 4 P. M. and learn the score, which either tones us up or makes us droop for the remainder of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lechstreker were very interested visitors for several days last week. Mr. Lechstreker is a State Inspector from Albany.

The members of the band, under the leadership of Lieutenant and Band Leader William H. Edwards, on Wednesday, April 30th, went down to Madison Square, Fifth Ave. and 23d St., just opposite the Victory Arch, and took part in a Victory Loan appeal. We were seated in the grandstand of the Liberty Altar. Bonds were purchased freely between the music played by our band. A man

S. J. W. D.

Last Wednesday evening the S. J. W. D. Gym class, under the direction of Prof. William James Roth, held its last session of the season. Those men whose attendance entitled them to compete for the three cash prizes announced at the beginning of the term had their measurements taken. On the basis of the physical development as indicated by the difference between the first and last measurements and tests, the prizes were awarded as follows: First, $75 to Henry Hecht; second, $50 to Irving Marx; and third, $25 to Alexander Goldfogel. In spite of his age, the latter outdid many young fellows. The attendance of the three winners was 100 per cent.

Friday evening the congregation had the pleasure of a sermon by Rev. Dr. A. G. Robison, Executive Director of the Y. M. H. A. The subject was: "What is Judaism." Dr. Robison reviewed briefly but comprehensively the different definitions of Judaism. He pointed out that all were sectional—that is, according to each of the old definitions some part of the Jewish people would be excluded from the community. There is, however, a new one growing up which is so inclusive that it will make room for all Jews of all creeds within Jewry. That is the nationalistic conception which holds that the Jews are not a religious sect but a national group.

Sunday afternoon the Victory Liberty Loan Rally was held at the Municipal Center. It is to be regretted that the meeting was arranged for the afternoon, because the beautiful weather kept many from coming. However, the results in subscriptions were not so bad. Due to the fact that the meeting did not start till a little after four o'clock, Dr. Thomas Francis Fox, who came early to address the rally, had to leave without speaking. The Dr., of course, did his bit faithfully.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Harry Goldberg, President of the S. W. J. D. Association. In a brief introductory address he told of the purpose which had brought all of us together. The first speaker was the delightful Mr. Alexander L. Pach, who, with his usual punch and vigor, drove home the significance of the Victory Loan. Mr. Louis A. Cohen, who followed Mr. Pach, was many times interrupted by the applause that greeted the striking remarks that dotted his inspired speech.

Corporal Shepstead, the brother of the superintendent of the S. W. J. D. Building, who just returned with the 77th from "over there," where he saw active service in many of the war's greatest battles, gave his reasons why the Victory Loan should be oversubscribed. But before he got a chance to say anything he had to wait a few minutes till the cheering ended and the standing audience took to their seats. Rabbi Amateau, who introduced the fighting speaker, told part of his war record. And when the A. E. F. man got up to speak the whole crowd got up with him. His address was of course from the soldier's point of view, personal and appealing in its simplicity.

Then Rabbi Amateau put in a good word for the Loan. He made the point that everyone who buys a Victory note is doing himself a great favor and no else, for in this country the people are the government. The meeting was closed with the national anthem, which was very beautifully performed by Miss Anna Jacobs. Then began the real business of the afternoon, and in a little while about $1000 in bonds were subscribed. All in all, over $2000 has been subscribed at the Municipal Center so far.

H. C. D. NOTES.

Last Friday evening the congregation at Temple Israel were treated by Mr. Basch to an interesting sermon on the life of Moses. Mrs. A. Cohen and Miss Pink rendered in graceful cadences "Regard My Word."

Mr. Kenner will speak before the H. C. D. this coming Friday, May 6th, on a most timely topic, "Americanism."

Friends, attention! Do not forget the all important event of this month, the 12th Annual and Fancy Dress Ball of the H. C. D., to be held at the New Yorkville Lyceum, 86th Street, near Third Avenue, on Saturday evening, May 17th, at 8 o'clock. The committee in charge is laboring to make the affair a rip-roaring success. Everyone present will be assured of a pleasant evening. With the unprecedented number of fifty attractive prizes, all in costume will have a fair chance to be a winner. Follow the crowd, on May 17th, all roads lead to New Yorkville Lyceum.

Wednesday, April 30th, Mr. Christian E. Vernon was watching the machinists fixing up a Jitney "tank" that had seen battle in France, on W. 97th Street. As he crossed the street, which is very steep and slippery, he looked up to see a big wholesale grocery wagon loaded with barrels and boxes of groceries. The horses were in front all right, but it was the loaded wagon that was doing the driving, the team of horses alternately sliding down and sitting on their haunches. As soon as they sat down the wheels bit into them, and they got up only to slide with outstretched legs, which tried in vain to find lodgment and resistance in the smooth pavement. Chris. jumped in time and looked for the crash. The driver managed to turn them on sidewalk and the gutter held the front wheels. It was a close call, as there were plenty of wagons and autos further down.

Christian went down to the dock and saw the submarine chaser No. 418, take on wounded soldiers to show them around the ships, and saw the chaser leave dock on which he was. He thought there would have to be pretty seamanship on the small steamboats to get out of the way as the chaser moved with some speed, considering the boat crowded river in front of her. She seem to stop after going only about twice her length from the dock. A steam dory (canal boat) loaded with sailors, with a few passengers, seemed to hesitate, then go ahead; but the tide was racing mad, and so before one could wink an eye, the tide slammed the barge on the bow of the chaser, and the stern went under. Some jumped off the barge. The tide quickly had the barge along dock, where a short hawser was thrown to the dock. Then there was a scramble of marines, policeman, Chris, sailors and every body as they fell on the hawser, and the sinking barge and tide nearly pulled all overboard, but they managed to hold it till all from the sinking boat were pulled off.

The hawser was too short to tie up, and hardly enough for all to get a hold on. While one party was busy on the dock, others were in boats picking up. "Some floated under the dock, including a small boat that was attempting a rescue of a Marine, who was clinging to a pole, himself half under water. Christian now thinks he is a hoodoo; only two weeks ago he was gassed and taken to hospital and pumped back to life, then to have a load of groceries try to roll over him, and then almost torn off dock by a Navy bumboat. But then they say, if you escape three times the hoodoo is broken. It is only in the movies that the hero escapes so many perils.

Last Sunday, May 4th, Mr. Samuel Siegel, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was extremely glad to meet his old chum Mr. Morris W. Axler, of Jersey City, N. J., whom he had not seen for a long lapse of time. Both deaf gentlemen had a long stroll up Fifth Avenue and had the utmost pleasure. Among sight-seeing in their day's ramble, they saw the portal "Arch of Jewels" in transcendent splendor against the sky in vari-colored prisms, and later witnessed the Park Plaza at 46th Street and Park Avenue, the beautiful plaza of long, straight and perfect alignment of pylons, the magnificent picturesque portals by eminent artists, representing Australia, South America, North America, Asia, Africa, Europe, and the Allies. Captured cannons, howitzers, swords, and guns from the Huns. There were also captured German steel helmets that were nailed in two acclious mounts, pyramid-like. Small tractors or tanks, interposing each pylon was the State seal of each of the United States. Orators of the day were haranguing the citizens, or rather driving crowds of city's commonwealth to purchase the Fifth Victory Loan. Both Samuel and Morris enjoyed a perfect day.

A surprise birthday party was tendered to Mrs. G. Commerding (nee Grace Crolius), a Fanwood pupil about thirty years ago, by Mrs. B. Elkin. An elaborate supper was served with a cake centered on the table. Forty-nine lighted candles surrounded the cake. The party was a grand success, and many gifts were presented to Mrs. G. Commerding. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. B. Elkin and son, Mr. and Mrs. G. Brown and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Commerding and daughter, Misses Grace and Julia Commerding, Messrs. William and Walter Commerding, Warren Francis, Warren Keenan of the U. S. Navy, Thomas Keenan and sister Alice, and Misses M. Hitz, Tiola and Edna Tomkins.

Sunday visitors at Camp Clark at Arverne, L. I., two weeks ago, were only four members, and as the papers say the cold weather put a stop to all outdoor pastime, the cold weather could not prevent Frederick Kohler from taking the first dip in the ocean. And it also couldn't drive Harry Gillen from having his usual sun bath. Many bungalows have been put up this winter, and when the season opens all the members will be surprised for everything will look strange to them. There is talk of a new board walk from Far Rockaway Beach to Rockaway Point, and many other improvements which will be a boon to all the campers. Edwin Mosbacher is busy with big orders for fancy baskets.

Miss Majorie Shipley was married to Mr. Albert Downs, on Saturday afternoon, May 3d, at 2 P. M., in Rev. Arthur Boll's house. Mr. Mr. George Walther and Miss Katherine Christgan were the witnesses at the ceremony. The bride's relatives were present to see the ceremony. After the ceremony they had the pleasure of a ride in an automobile from the city to Flushing, L. I., where they arrived at the bride's home.

Albert O. Downs and Mr. Shipley attended Mr. Breden's wedding, which took place in April, at the Lutheran Church of St. Luke's, on 42d Street. After the ceremony and luncheon, they took Miss K. Christgan out for a nice walk to 23d Street, and then boarded a Fifth Avenue bus to 125th Street. The Arch of Jewels at 59th Street was the most beautiful attraction along the avenue. All report having a lovely time.

Mrs. Charles C. McMann, accompanied by Mrs. Tiff, of Rochester, visited Fanwood on Monday, May 5th. Mrs. Tiff will be remembered for former pupils of the Rochester School as Miss Olga Crane. She is president of the Alumni Association of that school. A few days ago the above-named ladies were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hesley, of Garden City, L. I.

Before returning to Watertown, Mr. Charles Cooper motored to Mountain View, N. J., to see his friends, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. McClelland, and later they enjoyed a ride to Montclair in his big automobile.

The father of Louis Davis passed away on Thursday evening, April 17th, at his residence in Brooklyn. He had been in poor health for quite a length of time.

Frederick A. Graham, son of Joseph F. Graham, is on the way to Brest, France, on U. S. S. Minnesota.

ZENOISMS.

It will be vacation soon. Zero is waiting for an invitation from Vacuum to share his tent with him.

It is pretty tough to have the D. M. J., the gas-pressure, and the Syndicated Vacuum, all get down to Zero at the same time.

Thrill! Surely the C. A. D. wants but little here below, nor wants that little long. Zeno is so often suppre about Federation that whoever differs from him also gets suppre.

We had meatless days, so that we might have meat the rest of the week. Remember. If we are careless about having a headless C. A. D. next summer, we will have to put up with a headless association for a while.

The oralist who once upon a time said that the sign-language is doomed, seems to be still in position to be amazed at the rapid flight of time.

There has to be a Vacuum in a thermometer to register a Zero. Shawyn's silence seems to betoken his knowing what it is to freeze.

HIS OWN USE.—A Congressman once got a letter from parent, reading this wise:

"My youngest son ran away to the deaf and dumb asylum and the teacher tells him to stay; so I can't get Jim out. Won't you help me? He is sort of a good boy and I was raising him for my own use."

"WHAT KIND OF A DOCTRINAIRE?"—Shawyn in 1917: "I want to reform Zeno."

Shawyn in 1919: "The only thing Scotch I care for comes out of the bottle. Zeno can now decorate the Dutch shelves in his dining room with the empty bottles of Scotch which I consumed."

ALSO ANOTHER KIND OF REFORM.—Gallaudet Girl Senior: "No, I would never marry a man to reform him." Gallaudet Girl Freshie: "Well, I don't think my best that harsh measures are the best."

He: "You used to say there was something about me you liked." She: "So I did. But you have spent it all."

Early to bed and early to rise, and you'll never meet none of those regular Shawyns.

ZENO.

"Rex," the Greensburg scribe, who for several months has been holding cases in the printing department of the Pittsburgh Envelope Company of Greensburg, Pa., has relinquished his position owing to the fact that his health has not been good. After a two weeks' rest he was back as a wrapper or packer in the valve packing department of the Kelly V. Jones Company, south of that place, which place he left almost two years back. Of course, the change is more beneficial to his health than the printing business. He has been quite busy "tackling" the big Government order ever since he quit his job at the envelope factory.

DETROIT.

New items of interest of the deaf of Michigan may be addressed to Mr. R. V. Jones, 374½ Louise Avenue, H. P. Pl., Detroit.

Mr. Peter Bengard and wife, of Chicago, have been visiting in Detroit for the past ten days, with relatives. They returned to the Windy City last Wednesday.

The D. A. D. boys will play a practice game of baseball, at Belle Island, May 4th, and it is to be watched closely by the athletic director, for the purpose of picking "good timber" with which to build an invincible ball team.

Mr. Henry A. Frohm spent his vacation from the Fordson Tractor plant, in visiting Chicago, and brought back a pamphlet describing the new S. A. C. It is a beautiful Club house, and we congratulate our Chicago friends upon their great achievement. Long may it live and prosper.

The Flint Club boys are thinking of organizing a ball team of their own; and have in their mind's eye, the idea of coming over here and giving our boys a wallop on the diamond. Go to it kids, we will be in at the finish.

Mr. L. L. Williams has returned to town from his vacation trip, embracing Cleveland, Columbus and Dayton, Ohio, where he visited his many friends and had a general good time all around.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kadder have moved from Royal Oak, back to Detroit, and are now located at Rosdale Court, where they have everything comfy and homelike.

Teddy Bonkowski has left for a trip to the "Windy City." We are wondering if he expects to bring back some dress goods with him.

We are sorry to chronicle the death of our old friend and schoolmate, Mr. Robert Symington, of Sarina, Ont., who passed away recently. Mr. Symington was a mail carrier of that city, and his fellow workers were pallbearers at his funeral. Our sympathies are extended to his bereaved family.

Mr. Simon Mundheim also spent a week in Chicago, visiting friends and relatives, and looking after some personal business. He took in the sight at the new S. A. C. Club house, and is singing its praises everywhere he goes.

The Flint Club rooms are nearly ready for the boys to move in. They are all painted and decorated, and as soon as the floor is scraped, and electric lights installed, there will be something doing. We congratulate them.

Mr. John Walter has just returned from Kitchener, Ont., where he visited old home friends, and reports a good time.

Mr. Leon French has just returned from Minneapolis, Minn., and has renounced the single state, by joining in wedlock with Miss Olive Bain, of Windsor, Canada. The happy couple will make their home in Detroit, "where life is worth living."

A good many of the boys are sorely disappointed in learning, on May Day, that the Fordson Tractor plant would not resume operations until May 15th. They have learned, on their vacation trips, that money sometimes has wings, and that "The Mill will not grind again with water that has passed."

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Howe and daughter were at N. A. D. social, Saturday evening, April 26th. They enjoyed the evening among their friends.

The Flint N. A. D. Branch held a box social on Saturday evening, April 26th, netting $21.00 or more for the Convention fund.

Those present from Detroit were: W. J. Japes, Mrs. Behrend, R. Bremer, Adrian Dodd and Thomas J. Kenney, and Mr. Albert Sless, of Pontiac, and Mrs. John Berry of M. Clemens, were also present.

The prize for the best box was won by Miss G. Strand, of Flint, while the prize for the highest bid was won by Mr. Sless and Mr. Kenney, who bid against a large combination, and carried away the box at the price of $6.55!

Whew, but that was some bid, and I'll bet my old shoe strings against a brass collar button that the young lady that brought the box to the social is doing some strutting around.

There was not a quorum present for voting purposes, at the last meeting of the Detroit N. A. D. branch, but there were quite a number of people present for the social, and we had Mr. Fred Lander address us on the subject of co-operation.

Mrs. May was the Chairman of the Social Committee, but owing to sickness in the family, she was compelled to relinquish the chairmanship three days before the social, and as there was no program prepared, we had to have staged an impromptu program for the evening, which came through with satisfaction to all. Mrs. Ober donated a prize of a box of chocolates for the nearest guesser to the number of beans contained in a glass jar, which was won by Sovereign Sepponen, who no doubt divided up with his best girl.

Mr. Fred Lander and Mr. Wm. Harrington, each gave $10 toward the convention fund, which together with the other donations of the evening from the audience, brought us out even with, if not ahead of the Flint Branch for the evening.

The sincere thanks of all the members and visitors present was expressed to Messrs. Williams and Lander for saving the day for us, by a rising vote.

Messrs. Fred Lander and Wm. Harrington are representatives of the Paul De Laney Co., Inc., of Brocton, New York, manufacturers of pure good food products, and are selling shares of stock to the Detroit mutes. There are between sixty and seventy Detroit mutes holding stock, ranging from two to ten shares, and Mr. Lander had a flash-light picture taken of a large group of them, at the social Saturday night, arranged so they spelled out the words "Paul De Laney Share Holders."

Mr. Lander learned the sign language from Alfred Robbins, of Houston, Texas, and is as proficient in the signs and manual alphabet as any mute I have ever met. He is greatly interested in the welfare of the deaf, and has joined the N. A. D. as an active member.

Elmer H. Shorty returned April 28th from a week's visit with his parents in Shirler, Ill., and reports a pleasant time among his many home friends.

Andreas Nissela has been under the weather for the past ten days, but has just returned the Fisher Body plant.

Roy Adams has left his position with the Fisher Body Company, and taken one with the Dodge Brothers Co., at better pay, as a varnish rubber. We congratulate him on his good luck.

The N. A. D. members of the Union picnic are: Ivan Heyman, son, Mr. Bassett, and Clarence Kubisch.

The committee of the whole will meet at the D. A. D. hall, Sunday, May 4th, to choose a chairman and discuss ways and means, etc. The date of the picnic will be announced later on.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Jones gave a "welcome home" reception to their son, who has just returned from the battlefields of France, on Sunday, April 27th. There were about forty people present, divided between relatives and close deaf-mute friends. There was music for the hearing, and entertainment for the deaf, and refreshments were served to all, after which there were two flash-light photos taken of the two groups, and everybody voted that they had a good time. Their son has secured work with the Ford Motor Company and will live with his parents.

An exceptionally good program is offered for the D. A. D. Social on May 30th. Don't go home to supper after the parade, but come and eat with us at the D. A. D. hall, and thus boost for the Convention Fund.

ROBERT V. JONES.

Beaten and Robbed

Deaf and dumb, unable to hear the approach of his assailants, and powerless to call for aid, Alfred Volles, a Chino farmer, was beaten and robbed early yesterday morning while crossing the First Street bridge, at the Los Angeles River.

Mr. Volles was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he received emergency treatment from Police Surgeon Zorb. Later, when efforts were made to talk to Mr. Volles, it was thought that he was dazed by the blows on the head he had received, and that his centers of speech and hearing were temporarily paralyzed.

When he was completely conscious, Mr. Volles wrote on a slip of paper: "I am deaf and dumb."

Then Detectives Newstatter and Curtis wrote the question: "How much money and what else did the highwaymen get from you?" and Mr. Volles wrote, "I don't know."

[News items for this column may be sent to our Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. B. Greener, 938 Franklin Ave., Columbus, O.]

May 3, 1919.—The N. A. D. Branch's Social Saturday evening last, from 7 to 9, was well attended and afforded all present a pleasant evening. The affair was given for the benefit of the Relief Fund. Ice-cream, candy and lemonade, were sold during the evening and the net sum of $20.54 realized.

Early in the evening a list of questions were given out to test the knowledge of those present as to N. A. D. affairs. The questions were stunners for most of the pupils.

Richard Diamond, of Cleveland, one of the pupils won, the prize contest, his guess 1600 being nearest the exact number, 1875, which Treasurer McFarland had informed a member, who had requested the information.

Mr. McGregor, the Father of the N. A. D. was on hand during the evening, and when he left, his right arm had lost some of its vigor from the spokes it had to go through. Be it known that the 26th of April is his birthday anniversary, and further he had reached the three-score and tenth milestone in this vale of tears.

Mrs. James Caplinger came down from the Home to attend the affair and meet old friends. She left during the week for her home near Hillsboro to look after her farm, and may return after July 1st, to assist the matron with her work. Messrs. Williams and Burgers, auto workers of Detroit, were also at the social.

The Perry Club girls, under the chaperonage of Mr. Zorn, visited the Home for Deaf last Saturday. They got off at Westerville and walked to the Home, a distance of nearly three miles, and again on the return trip. The red hills were also visited, lunch brought along and eaten at the Home. They enjoyed the outing, but were a tired set when they reached home.

Mr. C. C. Lyon, a war correspondent of the Columbus Citizen addressed the teachers at their meeting Thursday afternoon.

He with three other correspondents, as soon as the Armistice was signed, got busy and made a break for Germany. They were helped to pass from place to place by presidents of the Revolutionary Councils in the German armies. Automobiles, telegraphs and private cars were at their use. The correspondents even reached Berlin, and also held an interview with Marshal Hindenburg. He said the Revolution against the Kaiser and the government had begun November 9th, and the leaders of it were the common soldiers. It was now the tail wagging the dog—in other words the officers had to obey the men. The Kaiser had probably gotten wind of this and concluded to step aside. Mr. Lyon stated that Hindenburg had ordered the killing of 20000 Prussian prisoners as stated by the war correspondent, Carey. Food was very scarce, and prices way up, so was clothing. The Germans had invented a kind paper for clothing, which was much used. A substitute for gasoline was also found, but the smell of it would make people hold their noses. There was no job for soap. Some chemical with pumice stone was used to get rid of dirt and grease.

The scribes upon their return from across the line were cited before General Pershing, and given a rebuke for going into the enemy's domains without orders. He next passed around the smokes and asked them to relate their trip to him.

Mr. Samuel W. Corbett, of Bell-air, has been confined since April 15 in the Wheeling Hospital, with a complication of troubles. He is now able to be about a little at a time, but does not know when he can leave the hospital. During his illness, his daughter, Nellie, has with the aid of some of the employees been looking after Mr. Corbett's department in the glass factory. Friends called to see him, and on Easter Mr. Harman, Secretary of the Rodeferr Glass Co., called and in his behalf presented him a large bunch of carnations. He was also offered any assistance he desired. We are sure this will push him to a speedy return to health.

The first base-ball team met its second defeat last Saturday, in the game with East High School. Score, seven innings E. H. S. 11; O. S. S. D., 9.

Mrs. Wm. E. Hoy and daughter, Mrs. Bert Wortman and Mrs. Wm. Wark, attended chapel service Friday morning. Superintendent Jones spoke complementarily of their presence, especially of Mrs. Hoy. He also referred to Mr. Hoy's fame as a ball player, his good habits as such, and saving his earnings while others spent theirs. The fine home he purchased near Cincinnati, and the fine family he has, are the result of good morals.

There was a circus show in town yesterday. When pupils were asked if they desired to see the parade, all hands went up. So school was dismissed at eleven o'clock and the classes with their teachers, were stationed at good places along the parade route. The show was late reaching the city, so it was near twelve o'clock when the parade started.

Dr. Patterson had a large audience to greet him for his lecture in Akron, Saturday evening, the 27th ult. A number friends from nearby cities came to meet him.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Monnin and Mrs. Thomas Crowley, of Canton, Miss Effie E. Laing, of Bedford, Mrs. Harvey Stottler, Frank Bauer, of Cleveland, John Schild, of Mansfield, LeRoy Evans, of Kent, Mrs. W. E. Hoy, and Mrs. Bert Wortmann, were visitors in Akron.

Dr. Patterson also addressed the Sunday School class at the Church of Christ Sunday, and had a large attendance. As a result of his address the evening before, the Home was benefited $123.10.

Fred E. Dunlap and wife, of Canton after a year of wedded bliss, or rather discord, asked to be separated from their bonds, and the court there found they had good reasons and granted the request.

The Class honors for 1919 were announced this week. Katherine Grasky gets the Valedictory and Rachel Gleason the Salutatory.

With the pupils' letters sent out Thursday, a circular was enclosed announcing school would close on June 10th, and pupils sent home on the 11th.

Either the type, or we failed to state that Dr. Patterson is to address the deaf of Cincinnati May 31st, under the auspices of the Division No. 10, of the N. E. S. D., for the benefit of the Home. Gymnasium work came to an end with April 30th for this term.

Floyd C. McCrory and Miss Ethel Hetzel were married, in Tiffin, Wednesday, by Rev. D. A. Parker. They will make their home in Tiffin, where the groom is employed in the Webster Manufacturing Co.

NEBRASKA.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Struck are back in Omaha. Mrs. Struck, as Eva Redmon, lived in Omaha and went to the State School. Mr. Struck has a good position in one of the big printing houses.

Frank Andrewjeski passed through Omaha to his home in the western part of the state about the 15th. He was summoned home by the serious illness of his mother, who has since passed away. Frank has our sympathy in his loss. He has returned to his work in Akron, Ohio, where he has been the last two years.

Mrs. Henry Funk (Carolina Bloom) died at York, Nebraska, September 5th, 1918. She was educated at the Philadelphia School at Broad and Pine Streets, as was also her husband. They were married in 1863. After living in Bloomington, Illinois, seven years, they moved to York, where they took up a homestead and lived for forty eight years. Mrs. Funk left, besides her husband, four daughters.

On Wednesday, April 23d, the bachelor members of the Home Circle, Omaha, entertained the other members of the Circle at the Lyric Building. After the business part of the program had been disposed of, dancing was indulged in for a while. Miss Ethel Gallup, who lived for a year in the Y. W. C. A., gave a talk on this Home for Women and Girls.

Then Mr. Axling recounted the story of the "Lost Battalion." About thirty were present. Refreshments were served. A very enjoyable time was had.

Eugene Fry assisted by his mother, entertained the members of the Mid-West Chapter of the G. C. A. A. on the evening of April 19th. "500" was the principal pastime. Mrs. Struck and Oscar Treuke won first prizes respectively. Scott Cuscaden consoled himself with a booby prize.

John Flood, a 14-year-old student at the State School, while at home in South Side, narrowly escaped death by electrocution Saturday evening, the 26th. He will lose the fingers of his right hand, which was badly burned. His left hand also was badly burned. It seems John took a step-ladder and climbed the pole in the rear of the electric light station, and reached the transformer. He was seen by a man in a hotel near by, hanging limp, and help was quickly secured. John is that kind of boy, who likes to see what makes "the wheels go round."

National Association for the Deaf.

Organized, August 25, 1880. Incorporated, Feb. 23, 1900.

An Organization for the Welfare of all the Deaf

OBJECTS

To educate the public as to the Deaf;

To advance the intellectual, professional and industrial status of the Deaf;

To aid in the establishment of Employment Bureaus for the Deaf in the State and National Departments of Labor;

To oppose the unjust application of liability laws in the case of Deaf workers;

To combat unjust discrimination against the Deaf in the Civil Service or other lines of employment;

To co-operate in the improvement, development and extension of educational facilities for deaf children;

To encourage the use of the most approved and successful methods of instruction in schools for the Deaf, the adaptation of such methods to the need of individual pupils, and to oppose the indiscriminate application of any single method to all;

To seek the enactment of stringent laws for the suppression of the impostor evil-hearing persons posing as Deaf-Mutes;

To raise an endowment fund—the income of which is to be devoted to furthering the objects of the Association;

To erect a national memorial to Charles Michael De l'Epee—the universal benefactor of the Deaf.

MEMBERSHIP

Regular Members: Deaf Citizens of the United States;

Associate Members: Deaf persons not citizens of the United States; and Persons interested in the welfare of the Deaf.

FEES AND DUES

Initiation Fee, $1.00; Annual dues, 50 Cents. Life membership, $25 paid into the Endowment Fund at one time. All Official Publications free to members.

Official Organ: THE NAD

Every deaf citizen and all others interested in the advancement of the Deaf along educational and industrial lines are urged to join the Association and co-operate financially and otherwise in promoting its objects.

Life memberships, donations and bequests towards the increase of the Endowment fund are especially needed and earnestly solicited to the end that permanent headquarters, in charge of salaried experts, may be maintained for the more efficient and vigorous prosecution of the work of the Association.
